CASSA Annual General Meeting 2014

Message from the Chair - Board of Directors Council of Agencies Serving South Asians (CASSA)

In 2013, CASSA celebrated our 25th anniversary as an organization. In 2014, we continued to build this organization with the support of our members, funders, partners, staff, many volunteers and the active, dedicated and tireless involvement of our communities. This year, our staff and volunteers amazed us, stepping up to meet difficult challenges putting in extra time and tireless effort to keep CASSA going. I especially want to thank Jasmine Lobo for stepping in as acting Executive Director during the month of May and June. She did this while managing a flagship project for CASSA for this year, collaboration with the Trillium Gift of Life Foundation to increase organ donation rates in Toronto and in our communities.

In 2013-2014, CASSA developed a slew of initiatives to facilitate the economic, social, political and cultural empowerment of South Asians by serving as a resource for information, research, mobilization, coordination and leadership on social justice issues. The CASSA team collaborated with member agencies on initiatives like the Alternative Planning group. The team also worked with partners on the CapaCITY Creators Project, a project aimed at increasing participation of South Asians in arts and recreation programs in Toronto and the Region of Peel. We also engaged South Asian communities in an initiative with the Trillium Gift of Life Foundation to increase organ donation rates in Toronto. All of these were successful projects and along CASSA's mission.

In May, we honoured amazing people working in our communities at CASSA Nite 2014 as a fundraising event during Asian Heritage month. CASSA staff has also been working on a resource book called the "Brown Book" and we are pleased to release it at this Annual General Meeting. We hope to continue to build this resource so it can be a useful tool for our communities.

My fellow board members and I are very appreciative of the work that the entire CASSA team, which includes our members, have put in to build this incredible organization and we hope to see it continue to flourish.

Sincerely,

Maya Bhullar
Board Chair

CASSA Annual General Meeting 2014

Message from the Executive Director Council of Agencies Serving South Asians (CASSA)

Dear Friends of CASSA:

I am delighted to share with you the highlights of our work in 2013 and our plans for moving forward in 2014. CASSA has continued to strengthen its fight for social and economic justice in the past year. We have now officially crossed hundred in the number of our member agencies. Thank you for your amazing support and engagement in CASSA.

In 2013, we began to implement the Capacity Creators project in Scarborough and Brampton. Within a year, this project has trained and supported over 100 individuals in their efforts to engage in the arts, recreation and environmental sectors. This project is now in the second year and is reaching new heights in our efforts to make the three sectors diverse, inclusive and accessible.

Other 2013 highlights include a successful Toronto Mela with over 2000 attendees, 100 volunteers and 40 performers. Towards the end of 2013, we launched our South Asian Gift of Life campaign in collaboration with Trillium Gift of Life Network and it is now proceeding into its eight month successfully. Our Health Conference was a milestone event with a launch of the process to develop a South Asian Health Strategy for Ontario. The Generation of Change project brought together three generations of South Asian women in Scarborough to create awareness and to celebrate the resilience and achievements of South Asian women. Many more of our highlights are listed throughout this book with further details.

I would like to thank the members of our dedicated and hardworking staff team for their enormous contribution to meeting our objectives and furthering our mandate. My sincere appreciation also goes to the supportive and visionary board of directors who continue to guide and support the work being done by our team. Finally, my special thanks to over 200 volunteers who gave their time and energy to make our projects successful. CASSA is proud to be a volunteer driven organization that is supported and facilitated by a team of amazing staff members.

In 2014, we will continue our fight for social and economic justice through the many ongoing projects, special events, awareness campaigns and equity initiatives. Our Brown Canada 2020 Summit taking place at the end of this year will be momentous occasion and we hope to have both your presence and support for that initiative. We will follow up with more information to you in the upcoming weeks. We request your continued support and involvement in CASSA in the upcoming months and years, as a member and as a volunteer.

Thank you for your continued support, guidance and involvement.

In Solidarity,

Neethan Shan
Executive Director

CASSA Highlights

CapaCITY Creators Project

The Capacity Creators program is a 3 year project funded by the Ontario Trillium Foundation, which aims to increase the participation of South Asians in the sectors of Arts, Recreation & Environment. Based on evidence gathered from preliminary research and by conducting a needs assessment, we found that South Asians as well as other immigrants face multifaceted barriers to actively participate and become leaders in the three sectors. As a result, the Capacity Creators project was designed to increase participation, nurture community engagement and form long-term partnerships between community members and mainstream organizations and service providers across the three sectors.

Every year, we train 60 South Asians as Capacity Creators in the City of Toronto and Region of Peel with the support of our member agencies. By providing training such as anti-oppression/anti-racism, board of governance and project planning, we hope to increase the knowledge of Capacity Creators on issues of access and equity and improve in leadership capacity to participate actively in the three sectors. Once training has been completed, Capacity Creators are connected to a mainstream organization in one of the three sectors. Our project partners include: Art Gallery of Mississauga, Scarborough Arts, Scarborough Museum, Water Docs Film Festival, Toronto Environmental Alliance (TEA), Earth Day Canada (EDC), Toronto Region and Conservation Authority (TRCA), Pan-Am Games and City of Toronto Parks & Recreation. In partnership with such mainstream organizations, Capacity Creators develop and execute their own community engagement project, supported by CASSA staff and volunteers.

Currently, we are in our second year of the project, in the recruitment and training phase. With the support of Punjabi Community Health Services and the Bangladeshi-Canadian Community Services we have recruited 50% of our participant target so far. Within the next few weeks, we will be training participants from the Afghan Women's Centre and the Polycultural Immigrant & Community Services to add the list of Year 2 Capacity Creators. Overall, we are recruiting 30 Capacity Creators in the City of Toronto (Scarborough area) and 30 Capacity Creators in the Region of Peel (Mississauga and Brampton area) for Year 2 of the project.

While recruiting year two participants, our year one Capacity Creators are executing 11 different projects across Toronto and the Peel Region during the summer of 2014. For example, the environmental Capacity Creators in partnership with TEA, have developed their own outreach and awareness project to support TEA's Waste-Free Campaign and by educating South Asian communities to adopt waste-free practices. While a group of senior Capacity Creators are working with TRCA to engage local seniors to participate in a planting program in Toronto and in Peel this summer. In partnership with City of Toronto Parks & Recreation, the recreation-focused Capacity Creators have created an active advisory committee called the Community Reference Group (CRG) which acts to connect local community members to free and accessible services the city has to offer. This initiative seeks to promote equity and inclusion that is long term. To promote further participation in the recreation sector, Capacity Creators are also facilitating Pan-Am information sessions to engage communities in the Pan-Am games in 2015. The Art Gallery of Mississauga have been a supportive partner for our Art-based Capacity Creators in the Peel Region, helping them to facilitate a South Asian exhibition this summer to promote local South Asian artists. While in Toronto, Scarborough Arts is working with Capacity Creators from Scarborough to promote South Asian art in their Bridging Festival taking place in August 2014. There are roughly six projects in the City of Toronto and five projects in the Region of Peel that are to be executing by the Capacity Creators this summer. Each project includes a team of 5-8 dedicated Capacity Creators who work together to successfully carry out these projects.

With the support of our partners as well as the Ontario Trillium Foundation, CASSA's Capacity Creators project is working towards increasing community engagement and social inclusion in the sectors of Arts, Recreation and the Environment from a social justice framework that is long-term. We welcome you to participate in the fantastic opportunities and initiatives our Capacity Creators are facilitating. CASSA would personally like to thank all our Capacity Creators for their hard work, our member organizations and our project partners across the three sectors:

South Asian Gift of Life Campaign

CASSA has collaborated with Trillium Gift of Life Network's "Be a donor" health promotion campaign to start an initiative that would outreach towards the South Asian communities in the Greater Toronto Area encouraging them to become organ and tissue donors. Trillium Gift of Life Network is a non-profit organization of the Ontario Government and is Ontario's central organ and tissue donation agency.

To provide some insight, in Ontario, less than 25% residents have registered their consent to be donors. Within the GTA, only 15% are registered, yet we are the largest populated city in Canada. The GTA has the lowest percentage of organ and tissue donors compared to rural areas in Ontario. Currently, Toronto is ranked at 170 out of 179. It is unfortunate because there are approximately 1,500 Ontarians currently waiting for organ transplants and thousands more waiting for tissue transplants. Every 3 days, someone dies in Ontario because the life-saving transplant they need is not available.

CASSA's primary focus is on the South Asian communities residing in the GTA. The goal is to break cultural and religious barriers surrounding organ and tissue donation through education, and create awareness. The hope is to increase the donor registration in the South Asian Community, since Ontario has the most population of South Asians in Canada. To achieve this, the initiative was formulated, and began on February 1st and will continue until August 31st 2014. The focus is to raise awareness and educate through various means, such as social media, television and radio networks, holding booths at many diverse events and conducting presentations and workshops. Furthermore, Trillium Gift of Life Network has also formed a URL with the “Be a Donor website”, where it will be language specific and South Asians can find the link to register easily.

CASSA looks forward to working alongside other community organizations that share the same beliefs and concerns. Together we can work to help spread awareness, to educate and remove stigmas attached to organ and tissue donation, and work towards the betterment of our society at large.

Health Equity Conference

In 2010, CASSA held their 1st Annual Health Equity Conference at the Centre of Addiction and Mental Health (CAMH), stemming from the report by Sheela Subramanian, A Diagnosis for Equity: An Initial Analysis of South Asian Health Inequalities in Ontario. The report suggested increased knowledge exchange and transfer between key stakeholders; including community organizations, health providers, researchers, funders, health planners and decision makers. This led to the creation of the Health Equity Conference, which aimed to share and exchange knowledge regarding new research and innovative service models to address crucial health related issues within South Asian communities. Thus, the first conference focused on a broad array of topics such as chronic disease, mental health, and sexual disease, to increase awareness of the salient issues affecting the health of South Asian communities as well as to address these issues through the lens of health equity and the social determinants of health. The conference was successful, with CASSA working in collaboration with CAMH to bring 75 individuals from various organizations to exchange knowledge about these issues.

Because of the positive feedback received from the conference, we decided to hold our 2nd Health Equity Conference, again held in collaboration with CAMH, which focused primarily on marginalized youth and mental health in South Asian communities. Although CASSA has worked to steadily increase awareness on the various health issues affecting South Asians, the focus of last year’s conference was to develop an action plan to reduce this health disparity. CASSA will focus their efforts on creating the foundations of a South Asian Health Strategy; a strategy for equitable access to health care, South Asian specific health care facilities, improved standards of care, and the provision of culturally-appropriate health services. This will be the focus at CASSA’s 4th Annual Health Equity Conference, which aims to take more of an action-based approach with diversity in practice and leadership within the healthcare sector.

This year, we hope to hold the conference on November 17th, 2014, and are currently working with a team of dedicated volunteers to establish, organize and promote this conference. We aim to have more than a 100 organizations joining us to facilitate and create an open dialogue on the next steps of a South Asian Health Strategy.

CASSA Nite

CASSA’s Annual Gala was held on May 23rd, 2014 at Princess Banquet Hall. Around 200 guests, including our sponsors, CASSA’s Boards, staff, volunteers, and awardees attended at the event. The theme for this event was “Remembering Our Struggles and celebrating our Victories.” As a part of

CASSA Annual General Meeting 2014

South Asian Heritage month celebration, CASSA also marked the 100 years after Komagata Maru and highlighted its importance in the history of South Asians in Canada by showing a short documentary and an exhibition that displayed the event.

CASSA also acknowledged six individuals with the service excellence award in recognition of their exemplary work among vulnerable communities, particularly in and among South Asians. The award ceremony is an integral part of CASSA's annual event. Six "Excellence in Equity" awards were presented to:

- 1) Augustine Jeevananthan, in recognition of his outstanding contribution to Seniors' Well-Being
- 2) Gagan Singh, in recognition of his outstanding contribution to Equity & Youth Engagement
- 3) Jehan A. Chaudhry, in recognition of her outstanding contribution to Gender Equity
- 4) Karin Baqi, in recognition of her outstanding contribution to Migrant Justice
- 5) Motilall Sarjoo, in recognition of his outstanding contribution to Labour Justice
- 6) Ritika Goel, in recognition of her outstanding contribution to Health Equity

Toronto Mela

Toronto Mela is a South Asian Summer Festival. The aim of the Toronto Mela is to celebrate South Asian diversity and to increase public awareness about the contributions of the South Asian communities to Canada and the world. Therefore, CASSA takes every effort to bring the people of the Greater Toronto Area together by celebrating diversity through South Asian art, literature, dance music and food. Over a thousand of people including elected representatives, media representatives, community leaders and the GTA residents attends this event ever since it has started.

CASSA celebrated its second annual event with the support of City of Toronto on September 7th, 2013 at Albert Campbell Square in Scarborough from 2.00pm to 8.00 pm. Toronto Mela 2013 was a great success with over 2000 people in attendance and with performances by over 100 artists. Please visit www.torontomela.ca to see highlights from last year. Fun, games, free gifts, food, stage performances were provided to entertain the participants. In addition, the stalls of services, 40 non-profit agencies and businesses, set up booths to promote their product and services.

Other salient feature of the event is volunteer support, as it was and will be a volunteer driven project and as like last year we expect more than 100 energetic and enthusiastic volunteers to support our next event to be successful. The third annual Toronot Mela will be held during spring 2015. CASSA will announce the date by the end of 2014.
